E. G. JOHNS & Co.*A HAPPY CHRISTMAS

Not long ago there lived a woman by the name of Mrs. White. She had one little daughter called Mary. They were very poor. Mrs. White worked very hard to earn a weekly wage to keep herself and Mary in comfort. Christmas was only two weeks away and Mrs. White was kept very busy as the work was plentiful at that time.

As they sat down for supper that night, Mary looked up at her mother and said, "Mother, I am going to try to make some little girl happy this Christmas. Last year I did not do anything and I saw many a poor child out on the street, hungry and cold. It will not hurt me to do a little kindness. Mother, will you help me?"

As they sat down for supper that night, Mary looked up at her mother and said, "Mother, I am going to try to make some little girl happy this Christmas. Last year I did not do anything and I saw many a poor child out on the street, hungry and cold. It will not hurt me to do a little kindness. Mother, will you help me?"

Christmas morning arrived. Mary received a beautiful doll from her mother. She was very proud of her doll. Mrs. White was delighted with a dish that Mary had presented her.

After breakfast, Mary asked her mother the audience of the choir and cookies in a cloth for her. Every she put her hat and coat on. While the parcel away went Mary with the good things to eat and her own little parcel under her arm.

She went about three blocks down the road and then turned and took a short cut through the bush. Finally she came to a broken down shack, where a little orphan girl lived all alone. She was sleeping when Mary entered the room. Mary didn't want to wake her, as she appeared to be very tired, by the way she was breathing, so she laid the parcel down beside the bed and hid behind the door until the girl awakened.

There was a great surprise for the little girl when she opened her eyes. She rubbed them two or three times before she could realize it was really true, that Santa Claus had visited her place during the night.

For only did Mr. Terence Horne come to help us, but Mrs. Terence Horne also came and sang with the soprano and the mezzo-soprano. Campbell, Wilson & Horne, whose musical gifts have descended to his son, Mrs. Terence, and who sang in a choir concert one of his fixtures, lent his aid to the basses—altogether, four singers. Mrs. Horne was the 1922 gold medalist of the mezzo-soprano of the Provincial Musical Association, Edmonton.

The contralto solos, the most notable that Miss Gertrude Smith has undertaken, were delightfully sung. Her voice has developed greatly, and shows promise. Her singing was very pleasing, expressing good taste and an attractive personality.

HANDEL'S MESSIAH*Finished Performance by Red Deer Choral Society

(Red Deer Advocate, Dec. 15th.)

The concert of the Choral Society in the principal musical event of the year in Red Deer; the concert held on Tuesday evening was the finest ever given in this city. The programme was the most ambitious, taken entirely from Handel's Messiah and comprising eighteen pieces from the first part and thirteen from the second—music of far more than average difficulty—and, as well, it was the most finished.

The Messiah was written four years ago. Handel said of his writing of it: "I did see all heaven open before me and the Great God himself." It has continued to be performed ever since; and Sir George Grove says there can be no doubt that the enormous spread of music since Handel's day is largely due to the popularity of this oratorio.

One of the great pleasures of listening to our Choral Society is not only the steady improvement in their work. Freelon has come to the fore; of course; the concert of Tuesday showed a marked improvement in tone; never before has the choir sounded so well.

Christmas morning arrived. Mary received a beautiful doll from her mother. She was very proud of her doll. Mrs. White was delighted with a dish that Mary had presented her.

"THE MESSIAH"

Listening to "The Messiah," at the first presentation in the Methodist Church, Tuesday evening, last, we could not help but marvel at the fact that there are in Red Deer so many people ready to give their time and talent to the service of the community. Long evenings had been devoted to practice, this doubtless entailing numerous sacrifices of other pleasures on the part of the singers. Yet anyone could, for a few cents, which is not a great deal, enjoy the finished result of the long weary practices and take away a new joy.

The Messiah was written four years ago. Handel said of his writing of it: "I did see all heaven open before me and the Great God himself." NATURAL RESOURCES

The Alberta Cabinet has endorsed the attitude of Premier Greenfield and Attorney-General Brownlee in refusing the offer made by the Dominion Government at the recent conference at Ottawa on the natural resources. This offer was that the natural resources be returned, with a continuation of the year's natural resources for three years. The Alberta Government adheres to its proposal that the cash subsidy be discontinued on the return of the resources to the Province, but that the Dominion compensate Alberta for resources alienated for Federal purposes. Though the most recent Dominion offer has been decried, the way is still open for further negotiations.

Premier Greenfield's statement in the matter is as follows: "Negotiations for the turning over by the Dominion government to the province of Alberta of the natural resources still unalienated were resumed at Ottawa recently, on the invitation of the prime minister, Hon. J. Mackenzie King, following upon a request by the government of this province that negotiations be opened."

The position at the opening of the negotiations was that the provincial government had received a communication from the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, following upon a request by the government of this province that negotiations be opened.

still feels that the claim put forward at the conference in Ottawa, that the province of Alberta is justly and fairly entitled to compensation for resources is sound.

A CHRISTMAS LOVE STORY

Harold had been told by his mother that his little girl were full of delicate women. Harold did not know whether his mother was right or not. But he did know that in his city boarding house there was one of the dearest little girls who had ever lived.

Harold was not selfish. He was far from being a miser. His idea of a miser was a chap he had known in his home town. He had never spent any money which he could possibly avoid spending. He always ate with his friends and rarely paid for a meal. He was always out of cigarettes and so smoked his friends' cigarettes.

He had been accused of worshipping money, and he had replied: "Not a bit of it. I have great respect for money. That is the difference."

Harold despised that kind of a miser. He would not, perhaps, be the "dearest little girl" think he was meant? He had never given her anything, and he had lived at the boarding house for six months now. Did she think he was meant? That was what bothered him. She had told him that person she had known whom she considered a miser, and she had told him that she had been with a little shop dealer and had obtained an article marked at fifty cents, and then she had walked down the street a little farther on and had seen the same article marked at ten cents, and then she had seen it at five cents, and then she had seen it at two cents. And finally he had seen it in a ten-cent store for a dime—well, he had almost considered it as a bargain, but everyone else had noticed that it was a good one on the "miser."

One of the reasons that made him feel that she thought, perhaps, he was mean was because she knew that he was generous. Or, at least, one other.

Every Saturday he had received flowers. She had taken a card out of the box and they had sat at the boarding house table at breakfast. The boarders teased her about her admirer and she seemed to enjoy it. Only he felt uncomfortable and could say nothing.

And Helen, when he called to himself the dearest little girl, had been receiving these flowers for quite a few weeks now.

"Finally he could stand it no longer. His mother needed him any more than the city's designing woman. He was not going to lose the dearest little girl, if there was yet chance, because of his mother's warnings to keep to himself."

And so, Christmas was coming, and Christmas was a time of year when everyone felt happy. He was going to make a tremendous fight to be happy!

And he sent her violets, beautiful deep purple violets, with a pink rose in the center.

Never had he seen her so happy as she was over his violets. How different she acted about him than about the others. And then he asked her if she would take a walk with him. So far they had had all their talks in the boarding house.

"I wonder," he said, "if you'd think it was awfully sudden if I made a little suggestion? I was thinking how long a ring would look up that old hand of yours—as a Christmas present—and an engagement present, if I may be so bold, and if you're not ready promised yourself to the other fellow? Or maybe you can learn to love me better."

"What other fellow?" Helen asked. "The one who has been sending you flowers all along."

"Oh!" Helen said, "I'll have to tell you the truth. I sent them to myself. You were so shy, you seemed to like me and yet couldn't go about, telling me or asking me out, and I thought maybe I'd make you curious or jealous or something."

"And you've cared for me all along as I have for you?" he queried. She nodded. And then he told her the warnings he had been given by his mother.

"I don't know but what she's right," Helen said. "I made designs for you, she could truthfully say. Christmas day and a ring with a diamond which sparkled so beautifully. And they had dinner by themselves a real Christmas dinner, for it was still only Christmas day—it was their wedding day, too!"

RED DEER FAIR

Financial Reports: Judges' Comment on Fair

At the annual meeting of the Red Deer Agricultural Society on Saturday afternoon, Dr. McEwan, President, occupied the chair, with Mr. E. W. Bjorklund, as secretary. There were also present Messrs. McKinnon, H. G. Stone, Weston, Patterson, H. T. McBride, G. V. Smith, M. P. P. E. M. Smith, Parnell, Van Slyke, R. McCann, Porter, Malcolm, Cruikshank, Hoag, Good, McKinnon, Richards, W. Blakely, Galbraith.

The President referred feelingly to the loss of Directors Day, Cole and Mowbray during the year. They had had a good fair, this year they had come out on the right side but he was not satisfied with the measure of public support accorded the fair. He pointed out in some detail as to the financial position of the Association; they must seek some relief. He pointed out the present scale of Dominion grants would be of any benefit to them, but they would not continue the Dominion Welliver got home. He spoke of the success of the Short Course, and of the desirability of having a fair in such course this winter. He bespoke for his successor in office as loyal support and aid from the members.

Red Deer—A very successful Fair.

Horses were plentiful and the majority of them were in excellent condition, and of good quality. Cattle, sheep and hogs were much better than in previous years. Grains and grasses made a fine display. The Fair was well handled and conducted. Public showed quite an interest in the judging of live stock. Local exhibitors supported the Fair well. Weather hot and dry. Attendance good. Judges' comments on the fair were as follows:—

NO POLITICS IN RAILWAYS

C.N.R. President Sir Henry Thornton Speaks at Montreal

"Let it be emphatically understood, now and for once and for all, that there is to be no political interference, direct or indirect, in the administration and working of the Canadian National Railway."

"Speaking as the guest of honor at the banquet tendered him by the Montreal Board of Trade, Sir Henry Thornton, newly appointed president of the government-owned railways of Canada, made the above emphatic declaration, stating that he could not put his position more forcibly without transgressing the rules of polite speech, and if he knew of any words that would make his statement more clear, I should unhesitatingly employ them."

He stated that W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, had solemnly assured him that there was to be no political interference and that the statement that distinguished him from that he had accepted the position which the government had offered him. Sir Henry said that the day of battle and the clash of political aims led him to suspect that there was political interference in the land and that he had reason to believe that something of the kind is going on at the moment, and that he would not be able to devote himself entirely and with tranquility to rendering to the people an honest and efficient railway service.

Endeavor to Meet Reasonable Demands in regard to sectional differences, had said that it would be his conscientious effort to meet the reasonable demands of all sections of the Dominion and contribute to the utmost to the development. But he pointed out that there would have to be some measure to be distasteful to certain sections of the Dominion.

Cities Four Factors of Railway Administration

Sir Henry sketched the four factors which constitute the sum of successful railway administration. These were:

adequate receipts; preparation and maintenance of the Dominion and its relations between the railway and its men; and relations between the railway and its clients. He hoped that the kindly feeling already existing between officers and men would continue. The next office would be placed at that point from which "the Canadian National Railway would not only serve the public, and consequently, most economically worked," Sir Henry said.

Railway Must Earn $40,000,000 Annually

An executive should be placed in British Columbia and in the west, which the property might be divided, and his policy would be centralization of the policies of the Dominion with respect to details. The present objective was to stop the strain on the railways and to learn of this "our National Railways must earn $40,000,000 annually."

President Beatty's Toast to Thornton

Dr. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the B. C. Railway, said that Sir Henry's railway revival, and the health of the guest of the evening.

Canada Needs Immigration Now Is the View of Lord Shaughnessy

Canadian Pacific Chairman Urges Aggressive Campaign to Bring Desirable New Citizens—Suggests Appointment of Minister of Immigration.

THE predominant importance of a sound and aggressive immigration policy for Canada was vigorously put forward by Lord Shaughnessy, Chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in an address to the Kiwanis Club of Montreal on November 16th. Lord Shaughnessy endorsed the Kiwanis idea of selected and directed immigration as a remedy for Canada's railway and other troubles and amongst other things urged the appointment of an enterprising Minister of Immigration and Colonization. He said in part:

Practically nothing has been done during the past eight years to attract population. Of course, the war interfered, and during the period of the war it would have been impossible to bring people here, but four years have elapsed since the Armistice and much might have been accomplished in those four years, were it not for unwise immigration laws, the practical absence of publicity work, and the withdrawal of agents. We have been hiding our light under a bushel with the result that we have lost to other countries thousands of excellent settlers who should have come to us. Indeed, it is worse than that, because the census returns show that in 1911, Canada had a population of 8,700,000, and the census returns for 1921 show a total population of 8,700,000. But in that period the vital statistics show that there was a natural increase of 1,350,000, and immigration into Canada from other countries of 1,975,000. Had we received no immigration, the natural increase should have given a population of 9,000,000.

When we take into account the fact that our National Debt which was $338,000,000 in 1914, has now reached the staggering sum of $2,340,000,000, or approximately the equivalent of $270 per capita of our population, a National Railway System (acquired for reasons that are more or less defensible) that with its annual deficits absorbs the greater portion of our rather burdensome income tax, with no prospect of immediate improvement, we must realize that the burden is too great for a population of 8,700,000 people.

Plainly stated we have on one side these enormous national liabilities and a sparse population. On the other side we have vast areas of agricultural land in the Western Provinces within fifteen miles of existing railway lines, only awaiting settlers to establish homes for themselves and their families, and to make these lands productive for their own advantage and for the general financial advantage of Canada, and in Ontario, Quebec and the Lower Provinces there is still room for a great many thousands of settlers.

The mineral districts of our country have far exceeded a mere match on the great mineralized area of the Dominion, and our forests utilized in a sensible way will be a source of incalculable wealth. Clearly our policy must be to bring these matters under the notice not only of the people of Great Britain and the United States, but of many of the continental countries as well, and say to them: We expect you to become citizens of Canada, and to take active intelligent interest in Canadian affairs; to see that your children are not only educated, but by your example encouraged to lead clean moral lives. It is not our intention when you land on our shores to turn you loose to shift for yourselves. We shall have Bureaus or Departments to take you in hand and advise and guide you until you have reached your destination.

Notwithstanding the war, Great Britain can furnish a very large number of settlers to the right class, and for the first time, I think, in history, the British Government is prepared to lend its aid to help these people to become established in one of the Dominions.

Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Denmark, Holland and other continental countries can furnish us with thousands of rugged splendid people who are weary of the struggle at home, and wish to seek their fortunes in a new land.

To begin with there should be some amendments to our immigration laws and regulations. The requirement of continuous passage from country of origin is surrounded by many difficulties. There can be no good reason why an Englishman temporarily living in Oregon, who had bought a ranch in Alberta, should under our regulations be denied admission as a settler, because he came to us from Oregon instead of direct from England. Nor should we be prevented from getting any man to us from the United States who, not being naturalized United States citizen, would be required to come to us from his own country and come from there direct to Canada to ensure admission.

I am only referring briefly to one or two out of many instances in the last couple of years that have been brought to my notice. It is true that the regulations have recently been amended with reference to British settlers, but the barrier against others still remains. There should be urged upon the Government the appointment of an enterprising Minister of Immigration and Colonization. I think that my friend, Hon. Mr. Stewart, who is with us to-day, will bear me out in the statement that the Department of the Interior is now over-burdened with work, and that this additional load should not be placed on it. The Minister in charge of Immigration will be a very busy man, and should be able to give his whole time and thought to this work. Heretofore it has been a sort of tradition that the Cabinet Minister or Deputy in charge of Immigration should come from the West. There would appear to be no good reason for this. While naturally the main efforts of the Department will be directed to the West, there is room for considerable energy in Eastern Canada, and after all, it makes but very little difference whether the Minister comes from the East or West provided he is just the right man.

The Minister should have a most capable staff of assistants and representatives in the Department at headquarters in Great Britain, the United States, and on the Continent of Europe, to permit of this most important matter being dealt with aggressively. He should have a

APPEAL SUSTAINED

In Suit for Legal Fees—Mr. Russell Succeeds.

The appellate division of the Supreme Court of Alberta—Judges Hyndman, Beck, and Clarke, sitting in banc, handed down judgment sustaining the appeal of Russell & McClure from the finding of Judge MacNulty in the case of Russell & McClure vs. S. P. Speers. (Infants). The plaintiffs sued for $250 balance alleged to be owing to the defendant to the plaintiffs for professional services in connection with the defence of a serious criminal charge for which the defendant had been prosecuted and sent up for trial. The plaintiffs contended that the fee agreed upon for Mr. Russell's services was $400, and by the defendant that it was $200, of which he had paid $100. The court of the engagement of Mr. Russell, and the balance of the $200 shortly after the preliminary trial. The Crown did not proceed with the case at the trial, and understood Mr. Russell's office had been so notified.

Mr. Russell said he reduced his charge to $450, defendant giving two promissory notes of $125 each, in addition to the $200 he paid. Speers contended that he had no knowledge when he gave the notes to Mr. Russell of the fact that he was not the owner of the trial: Speers was at his office in the morning. The Appellate Court took the view that the evidence obtained from Mr. Russell and Mr. Speers should have been given some weight in establishing the facts, and the Appellate Court also took the view that this out-of-court evidence of Mr. Russell's knowledge of the facts and the circumstances of the giving of the notes by Speers, and further, the fact that the plaintiffs contended that the plaintiffs' case was the more reasonable one.

"Whether a charge of $500 for the defence (including, of course, the trial) in a case of this nature is really exorbitant, we cannot not close our eyes to the fact that such fees are common in this province, and the probabilities are that $500 rather than $100 would be the sum mentioned by any counsel of standing or of experience in criminal matters," Judge Hyndman said, in giving reasons for judgment.

"Nevertheless," he said, "the fact was not paid in full and the charge having been withdrawn, as it was, I think we have right to review the case and modify it to suit the circumstances. It seems to me that in view of the unexpected termination of the trial, and the fact that the plaintiffs' case was reduced to $50, I would therefore allow the appeal with costs, which I would fix at $75, set aside the judgment below, and enter judgment for plaintiffs in the sum of $50 without costs." Judges Beck and Clarke concurred.

Frank Ford, K.C., appeared for plaintiffs; F. E. Ewing, K.C., for defendant Speers.

RIDGEWOOD

The severe weather will make many a tenderfoot wish he were in a more southern clime, while he is picking pineapples or prickly pears instead of rubbing his nose on his own ice-cream.

It has been rumored that one of the members of the Hayseed Quartette feels kind of rattled up and peevish. It seems that his voice, in going through the separator, got somewhat raked. We would strongly advise a thorough application of Minors'.

Our local moose-hunters have successfully returned from their trip to the outskirts of civilization, and report game plentiful (but we are from Missouri).

The teacher and pupils are busy making arrangements for their annual Christmas tree entertainment, to be held in the community hall on Wednesday evening, December 21. Everybody welcome and bring plenty of sets.

The Pine Hill school Christmas tree entertainment will be held this year on Thursday evening, December 21, and we are sure it will be well worth attending.

Mr. Hughie Wiseman, from Peace River, was in the district last week visiting old friends. We understand he is on his way south on a business trip.

We regret to learn that Mr. Bill's has had to return to the Red Deer Hospital and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Yarbrough and family have moved on to the Gates farm at Pine Hill.

Last week was an epoch maker in matrimonial activities in this district. Two weddings of local interest being solemnized. The charivari in connection with them events were of much interest. It was noted that the first charivari that the young man in part working order made a very good one. The last charivari was an event of much social interest and was largely attended. Dancing and cards were indulged in till the early hours of the morning. We extend our thanks for the good time and wish the principal parties in these events much happiness and prosperity.

A whist drive will be held in the Community hall on Saturday, December 16. Ladies please provide lunch as usual. Good prizes will be given.

Winter Excursions to the Pacific Coast on Canadian Pacific Railway.

Twelve months of summer if you spend the next three on the Pacific Coast, where every form of outdoor pastimes may be enjoyed.

The delightful mild climate at Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster attracts a great many prairie folk annually, whose numbers will doubtless be greatly increased by the excursion fares which will be on sale December 5th, 7th, 12th, 14th, 16th, 21st, 26th, 28th, January 2nd, 4th, 8th, 11th, 15th, 18th, 23rd, 25th, February 6th and 8th by the Canadian Pacific Railway from stations in Manitoba (Winnipeg and West), Saskatchewan and Alberta, and bear a return limit until April 15th, 1923.

The Canadian Rockies are a magnificent sight in winter garb, and can be seen from either one of the two fine Canadian Pacific trains in about two days. Plan that winter vacation now. Ask Mr. Agent of the Canadian Pacific for illustrated leaflet and full information.—Adv't.

Good Will Toward Men

OUT of the darkness of the past, through recurring storms of war, revolution and business struggle—piercing the mists of doubt and despair and disappointment, comes the everlasting message of hope to mankind—"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men."

As clear, as true, and as welcome to-day as nineteen hundred and twenty-two years ago, the Christmas message of peace falls upon the world like the beam of a radiant star from a sky too often troubled and overcast.

To all Mutualists and to all others likewise, a Merry Christmas and a happy, prosperous New Year.
